DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 23 and 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

3. Claim 23 recites the limitation "the frangible portion" in line 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. It appears that this claim should depend from claim 22.

4. Claim 28 recites the limitation "the frangible portion" in line 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. It appears that this claim should depend from claim 27.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 1, 4, 10, 11, 15, 16, 19-21, 24, 25, 29, 32, 36, and 37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Freitas et al. (USPN 5486185).

7. Referring to claims 1, 4, 10, 11, 15, 16, 19-21, 24, 25, 29, 32, 36, and 37, Freitas et al. teach all of the limitations of these claims. Freitas et al. teach a reconfigurable surgical apparatus including a surgical instrument assembly with a hollow manipulation shaft, a coupler at the distal end of the shaft having a capture ledge, and an interchangeable surgical tool attachable to the coupler by releasably mating with the capture ledge (figures 4-8). The mating portion of the tool may be described as having a hooked shaped tine, a capture ledge, a lateral slot, an engagement ledge, and a shelf. The coupler may be described as having an anchor, an engagement ledge, and a shelf.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claims 2, 3, 12, 13, 14, 17, 18, 26, 30, 31, 38 and 39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Freitas et al. (USPN 5486185).

10. Referring to claims 2, 3, 12, 13, 14, 17, 18, 26, 30, 31, 38 and 39, Freitas et al. teach all of the limitations of these claims as described above except for the coupler including a lateral slot or a hook shaped tine. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention that the use of a coupler having a lateral slot or hook shaped tine as in the claims represents an unpatentable design choice over the coupler of Freitas et al. that would not change the functionality of the device.

11. Claims 5, 6, 8, 9, 22, 23, 27, 28, 33, 34, and 40-42 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Freitas et al. (USPN 5486185) in view of Chien (GB 2227412A).

Art Unit: 3739

12. Referring to claims 5, 6, 8, 9, 22, 23, 27, 28, 33, 34, and 40-42, Freitas et al. teach all of the limitations of these claims as described above except for the tool having a frangible portion or notch. Chien teaches a surgical instrument having a notched frangible portion 3. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to include a frangible portion such as the notched portion in Chien to the device of Freitas et al. to ensure that the interchangeable tool of the device is not used again after it is removed from the coupler.

13. Claims 7 and 35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Freitas et al. (USPN 5486185) as applied to claims 2 and 30 above, and further in view of Chien (GB 2227412A).

14. Referring to claims 7 and 35, Freitas et al. teach all of the limitations of these claims as described above except for the tool having a frangible portion or notch. Chien teaches a surgical instrument having a notched frangible portion 3. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to include a frangible portion such as the notched portion in Chien to the device of Freitas et al. to ensure that the interchangeable tool of the device is not used again after it is removed from the coupler.
